A Pastor's Suggestions

Bring some one who has fallen out of the habit of going to church to worship with you. It is not enough to announce to men that the tables of life are ready. The Master's command is to go out and persuade them to come.

Nourish your soul as well as your body. Man does not live by bread alone. If your physical well-being depends upon nurture by atmosphere, by light, by food and by exercise, your entire well being depends upon additional nurture by a healthful mental environment by sunniness of friendship with God and with your fellows, by fresh supplies of grace and of knowledge, and by the exercise of spiritual powers.

Exercise yourself unto godliness. He who does not practice his religion will tice the vision of God and His presence. to degenerate; to do nothing is to die.

He who is too busy for these things is too busy for his own good and for society's welfare; he who is too lazy is slothful; he who is too weary staggers blindfolded past the fountain of rest. - From Year Hook of South Church, Bridgeport, Conu., the Rev. H. H. Tweedy, Pastor.

A FLASH IN THE PAN

Shows Humor

There was issued from the County Court Clerk's office January 28, a marriage license. The object of this inatrument of writing issued under and by the authority of the great commonwealth was to cause "two hearts to beat as one."

In the language of a distinguished and clever writer noted in the columns of the last issue of this paper, the object of this authority was to caune "two hearts to beat with bus a single thought."

Mixed metaphor does as well as any especially if you have run out of the unmixed.

As we stated above this marriage license was issued by Clerk C. E. Weldon in good faith. The young man who made the pur-hase we presume was in good faith. The preacher or justice was in good faith and had settled the amount of the fee and nearly had the money spent. llut all was not well. The girl or the boy or the parents or something got in the way and the license was returned to Mr. Weldon endorsed. "A flash

FELINE FISHERS.

al Cats Apparently Are Not Afraid

Judging from my experience, cats, risen bying near water, are generally foul of fishing. I have personally known tarce feline fishers. One was a mere acquaiatance and used to fish la n trout stream. The other two lived with as and during the summer every evening. They would crouch on the shore and suddenly jump into an advancing wavelet, very frequently bringing out a small tish. When they had kittens, I have sometimes seeu them bring up to the house three tish lu the space of an hour.

I know of a cut, whose home was in Westmorland, close to a stream, that was a regular and accomplished fisher. She was a half Persian. Her daughter belongs to friends of mine, and I have myself seen this bilter watching the goldtish in the children's aquarium, which at that time was open at the top and on a broad window seat. Pusaput in one paw and stirred the water violently, then sat down to watch with apparent sittisfaction the terror of the fish, which site could not on that occaslon reach. Once the family found she had caught one and killed a second, so the nquaritum was afterward always covered by wire or net. One of this ent's kittens belonged to me and was for her short life of under a year very dependent on human companionship, She came up to my hedroom frequently the first thing in the morning and always took great interest in the washlain I bas u, from which she would tish out the sponge or some and illed to have her saw to the water. #### BEES IN WARFARE.

Two instances in Which the insects Were tuest as Wespons.

History records two instances in which bees have been used in wurfare as weapons ugainst besiegling forces. The first is related by Applita of the singe of Themiscyra, in Poutus, by Lucullus in his our against Mithridates. li arrets were brought up, mounds were built, and linge mines were made by mouths it ed to lish in the like nearly the Romans. The people of Themiscorn dng open these mines from above and through the holes cust down upon the workuren bears and other wild animals and filves or swarms of bees.

The second instance is recorded in an Irish manuscript in the Ilibilotheque Royale at Brussels and tells how the Danes and Nacweglans attacked Chester, which was defended by the Saxons and some Unific auxiliaries. The Danes were worsted by a stratugein, but the Norwegians, sheltered by lumities, tried to plerce the walls of the town when "what the Saxons and the Gaeidhil who were among them dld was to throw down large rocks, by which they broke down the lairdies over their beads." What the others did to check this was to place large posts under the hurdles

What the Saxons did next was to put all the heer and water of the town into the culdrons of the town and ball them and snill them down mon those who were under the hurdles, so that their skins were peeled off. The remedy which the Lochlans upplied to this was to playe lildes outside on the hurdles What the Saxons did next was to throw down all the beelives in the town upon the besiegers, which prevented their from making their bands or legs from the untable, of bees which stime them. They afterware besisted and left the ests

Tobacco Association Situation in Lyon County.

Arrangements have been completed by which the Dark Tobacro Growers Association gets control of the Jarvis Factory in Kuttawa, and negotiations are penling which will be closed promptly with competent parties to receive and prize the tobacco belonging to members of the association. The exact date on which the house will be ready to receive tobacco will be published as soon as the contract for handling is closed.

When the association was organized in Lyon county the tobacco situation was in a state of chaos. Nobody would bny or talk about bnying tobacco - no insurance on tobacco could be had. The association did not know of any house that could be had in which to handle tobacco and did not know of anyone with whom contracts for handling could be made, nor did they know of any parties who would or could be induced to finance the tobacco prop of the county. The committee chosen to manage the affairs of the association in the courty went earnestly and active to work, but found the above named obstacle only a part of what they had to contend with. A protracted meeting was in full swing at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. The house was crowded each night and much interest was manifested. It was a combination meeting and all of whatever denomination felt great concern. Itilly Yates, the sweet singer of Sheridan, waved a little ten cent vellow song book in front of him with both hands and infused more life in things than one would suppose by a single glance at his smiling face. flight here it might be noted that there cannot be much wrong with a man who is in a good humor one-fourth of the time and grins the other threefourths. So Itilly Yates Infused life late and pulled melody out of the whole congregation as well as the choir. The little yellow book waved back and forth, up and down, and Billy's eagle eye swept the audience. It linaily occorred to him that the audience was nor deling its duty. He stepped briskly to the front and said, "Now I. would like for the whole congregation to sing this song. Let everybody in the house remain allent but this right hand section. The right hand section rose to the occasion nobly as one man and one woman and jarred the steam radiators. Upon request the next section did likewise. The Kthird facction did well but Itlly discovered one man about half way back who did not sing. "Try that over," shouted Billy, "now Judge Moore I want you to sing," and he pointed the yellow song book straight at the judge as though it was a pistol. The judge is a man who never shirks a duty, so he spoke right out loud enough to be heard by all, "flilly, 1

No Matter What Your Property is Worth, or in what Town, City, State 'or Territory it is Located

If I did not have the ability and facilities to sell your own property, I certainly could not afford to pay for this advertisement. This "ad" (like all my other "ads") is practically sure to place on my list a number of new properties, and I am just as sure to sell these properties and make enough money in commissions to pay for the cost of these "ads," and make a good profit besides. That is why I have so large a real estate business today.

Why not put your property among the number that will be sold as a result of these "ads?" I will not only be able to sell it-some time- but will be able to sell it quickly. I am a specialist in quick sales. I have the most complete and up-to-date equipment. I have branch offices throughout the country and a field force of men to find buyers.

I do not handle all lines as unily carried by the ordinarry real estate agents, I MUST SELL. real estate and lots of it or go out of business. I can assure you that I am not going out of business. On the contrary, I expect to find, at the close of the year, that I have sold twice as many properties as I did the past year, but it will first be necessary for me to "list" more praperties. I want to list YOURS and SELL it. #### CONSCIENCE MONEY.

What the Old Time Publishees Paid

From a Sense of Austles. Some interesting details have been gleen out lately as to the sums voluntarlly publ to Hritish novelists by American publishers before the days of International copyright. Any American firm could reprint at mice whatever isaund from the English phisnes, but some publishers arranged with British authors for advance sheets of forthrouning works, thus embling them to get the start of "piratical" firms which paid the author nothing. It is interestlag to observe the ormalonal disparity between the merit of the book and the price paid. The whole thing was in the nature of a leap in the dark. Often the aum given by the American pablisher was really more than the Amerlean rights would probably have been worth had it been possible to seenre them by copyright. Thus Anthony Trollops got $3,500 for "Sir flarry 11otspur," one of his poorest novels; George Ellot $8,500 for "Duntel Derouda" and tbarles Reade $5,000 for "A Woman thater." No joiblisher today would pay any such sums for these books if he were permitted to read them before baying.

tin the other hand, by way of comparlson, the very best books brought their authors only triding returns from America. #### Keub Hean Campaign Text-Book

A departure has been made in the Republican Campaign Text-Book just issued, in that its contents are wholly divoted to live Issues, and these are treated in the briefest possible way, yet comprehensively enough to include all necessary facts and figurer.

First, there is a general statement of the irsues of 1906, followed by a brief review of Republican legislation in general and the work of the Fiftyninth Congress in particular. The Railroad Rate Law, Pure Food Law, Free Alcohol Law, Employers' Liability Law and the Meat Inspection portion of the Agricultural Appropriation Law are given in full, as is Chairman Tawney's clear explanation of the approuriations.

The Labor question is next fully presented, followed by Representative Watson's exposition of Anti-Trust proceedings. Protection and Free Trade, Customs Revenue, Foreign Commerce. Home Market and Internal Trade, Wages and Prices, Export Discounts,

The work of the president und administration is then briefly presented, the condition and status of the Philippines, the l'anama Caral, the Navy, Postal Service, Irrigutum, etc., etc.

The President's letter to Representa tive Watson concludes the work, which has a copious uniex of over u dozen

Nervous Worn-Out

If you are in this condition, your nerve force is weak-the power is giving out, the organs of your body have "slowed up," and do their work imperiectly. This failure to ilo the work required, clogs the system and brings distress and disease. When the nerves are weak the heart is unable to force the life-giving blood through your veins; the stomach fails to digest food; the kidneys lack power to filter impurities from the blood, and the poisonous waste remains in the system to breed disease. Nerve energy must be restored. Dr. Miles' Nervine will do it, because it strengthens the nerves, it is a nerve medicine and tome, that relailds the cutive nervous system

He told me they had no leader. I learned from him that in all that country there was not a young man who was capable to aet as leader. At the Sunday School rally at Weston I asked the question, how many churces represented here have a young man whom you ean depend upon to lead your Sunday School? My friend seems now to be entirely on the opposite from which he started. The people of Weston and those who heard him know what he said as to the woman and the hog. I said in the outset he, Mr. Grady, said that the women and the children were no better than a hog and he also defied anyone to prove that a hog had no soul. Rev. J. R.
